| Nashik | Ajmer | Bhubaneswar |
| Khunti | Anantapur | Mumbai |
| Simdega | Jalandhar | Amritsar |
| West-Singhbhum | Digantar | Rourkela |

HOW?

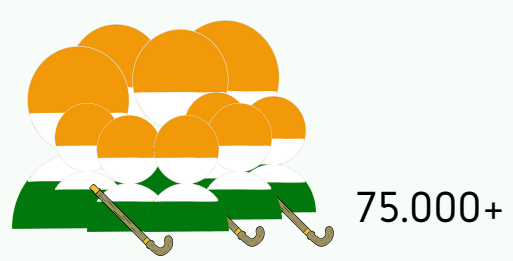

The grassroots program is the bottom layer and is the basis of our project where hockey is used as an instrument for personal and social development. The middle and top layer together form the talent program. Here, hockey is not just used as a means but also an end in itself.

HOW MANY?

10.366 children participated in our structural hockey programs.
 243 Indian coaches attended one or more of our coaching courses.
 43 Dutch coaches, players and trainers went to India to coach, educate and inspire.

In total we have reached over 75.000 people, at single day events, inspirational and motivational sessions, school visits and house holds of the children in the structural hockey programs.

IMPACT

In an environment where opportunities are lacking, the hockey program can create a possibility to escape from this poor and underdeveloped context. By focussing on the development of social and life skills such as communication, discipline, self confidence, teamwork and leadership.

"Sports helps channeling human spirit."

"We are more engaged in conversations. People ask for our opinions."

"Every year it is uncertain if you have a good harvest and whether you earn from it, now I get a fixed income every month."
